Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

Investment Objective: Fidelity Technology Innovators Class (Fund) aims to achieve long-term capital growth. It seeks a return similar to that of Fidelity Technology Innovators Fund (Underlying Fund) by investing substantially all of its assets in securities of the Underlying Fund. The Underlying Fund, which is also managed by Fidelity, aims to achieve long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity securities of companies anywhere in the world that are positioned to benefit from advances in technology.

Strategies: The portfolio manager invests in companies in technology industries, including computer services, computer software, computer systems, communications systems, electronics, internet related companies, office equipment, scientific instruments, and semiconductors, and any other technology related companies.

When buying and selling equity securities for the Underlying Fund, the portfolio manager examines each company's potential for success in light of its current financial condition, industry position, growth potential, earnings estimates, quality of management, as well as economic and market conditions. The Underlying Fund may invest in companies of any size. It may also hold cash and invest in China A-shares and fixed-income securities.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in this Fund remain as discussed in the prospectus. Any changes to the Fund over the period have not affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

The Fund is suitable for long-term investors who want to gain exposure to technology companies anywhere in the world, and can handle the volatility of returns generally associated with equity investments. Registered plan investors should be aware that the Fund may, from time to time, bear an income tax expense which will reduce returns. To invest in the Fund, investors should be willing to accept a medium to high level of risk. The suitability of the investment has not changed from what has been disclosed in the prospectus.

Results of Operations

Fidelity Technology Innovators Class, Series B, returned 29.1%, after fees and expenses, for the twelve-month period ended November 30, 2024. The net returns of the other series of the Fund are similar to those of Series B, except for differences attributable to expense structures. During the review period, global equities, as represented by the MSCI World Index, returned 32.0% (in Canadian dollar terms).

Market overview:

Global equities, as broadly measured by the MSCI World Index, returned 32.0% in Canadian dollar terms and 27.8% in U.S. dollar terms, for the one-year period ended November 30, 2024.

Global equities advanced for the period under review. Falling interest rates in major developed markets, decreasing inflation, and positive U.S. economic data, helped support investor confidence. Investor optimism in the digital innovation and artificial intelligence space helped fuel growth in the information technology and communication services sectors, propelling the technology-heavy NASDAQ Index to record highs. However, investor sentiment shifted later in the review period due to concerns about stretched valuations and relatively weaker U.S. economic growth. Valuations of companies in the financials sector rose, signalling optimism about potential earnings growth from reduced borrowing costs. Defensive sectors, such as utilities and consumer staples, also gained as investors looked for stability amidst ongoing market volatility. In Europe, equities surged despite some volatility along the way. Markets recovered as the European Central Bank implemented rate cuts, and China's central bank embarked on its most significant stimulus since the pandemic, in effort to ease the deflationary cycle. Japanese equities experienced volatility, amid shifting monetary policy expectations. The interest rate hike by the Bank of Japan led to a rapid unwinding of leveraged global trades, which created market volatility.

Factors affecting performance:

The Fund underperformed its broad-based benchmark, the MSCI World Index. Security selection in semiconductors and semiconductor equipment industry detracted from relative returns as did the certain investments in the technology hardware, storage and peripherals industry.

The Fund's benchmark, the MSCI ACWI (All Country World Index) Information Technology Index, returned 40.9% for the period under review. The Fund underperformed its benchmark primarily due to the Underlying Fund's investments in, and lower-than-benchmark exposure to, the semiconductors and semiconductor equipment industry. In particular, lack of exposure to U.S.-based semiconductor companies detracted from relative returns. Investments in the professional services industry also detracted. In this industry, out-of-benchmark exposure to France-based management consulting company Teleperformance, and U.S.-based global technology and services company Concentrix, both detracted. Among other industries, out-of-benchmark exposure to France-based global payment service provider Worldline, and an investment in South Korea-based consumer electronics company Samsung Electronics, detracted from relative returns.

In contrast, the Underlying Fund's lower-than-benchmark exposure to, and investments in, the software industry contributed to relative returns. In this industry, lower-than-benchmark exposure to U.S.-based multinational technology company Microsoft, and to U.S.-based software company Adobe, contributed to relative returns. The Underlying Fund's investments in electrical equipment also contributed to relative returns, particularly out-of-benchmark exposure to Germany-based energy technology company Siemens Energy. Among other industries, lower-than-benchmark exposure to U.S.-based multinational consumer electronics company Apple, and to U.S.-based semiconductor manufacturing company Intel Corporation, contributed, as did out-of-benchmark exposure to U.K.-based aerospace and defence company Rolls-Royce.

At the end of the review period, the Underlying Fund had no exposure to Siemens Energy.

Portfolio changes:

During the review period, the portfolio manager increased the Underlying Fund's exposure to the communications equipment industry and the broadline retail industry. In the communications equipment industry, the portfolio manager initiated a position in U.S.-based multinational digital communications technology company Cisco, owing to its attractive risk/reward valuation, in the portfolio manager's opinion. In the broadline retail industry, exposure was increased to U.S.-based multinational e-commerce company Amazon.com.

In contrast, the Underlying Fund's exposure to the software industry and the financial services industry was reduced. In the software industry, the portfolio manager reduced exposure to Germany-based software and services firm SAP. In the financial services industry, exposure was reduced to U.S.-based financial technology services company Fidelity National Information Services. The portfolio managers preferred to pursue other opportunities they believe have more upside potential.

As at November 30, 2024, the U.S. accounted for the Underlying Fund's largest absolute country exposure. At the industry level, the semiconductors and semiconductor equipment industry accounted for the Underlying Fund's largest absolute exposure. The Underlying Fund's geographic and industry allocations are a by-product of the portfolio manager's bottom-up fundamental stock selection process, reflecting the portfolio manager's intent to add value through stock selection.

Recent Developments

Portfolio manager Hyun Ho Sohn believes the structural drivers for technology have not changed. In the portfolio manager's view, technology companies are beneficiaries of structural improvements in pricing power, with strong business models across the sector, robust balance sheets and generally reasonable valuations. The portfolio manager believes that uncertainty regarding geopolitics and monetary conditions makes it harder to predict near-term moves or trends. As a result, the portfolio manager is focused more than ever on what is known and what they believe they can confidently assess through fundamental, bottom-up company research. During the period under review, the Underlying Fund's investment strategies were changed. To meet the Underlying Fund's objectives, the portfolio manager invests in companies in technology industries, including computer services, computer software, computer systems, communications systems, electronics, internet-related companies, office equipment, scientific instruments and semiconductors, and any other technology-related companies.

Fidelity is the portfolio adviser to the Fund and it provides investment advisory services to the Fund. Fidelity has entered into sub-advisory agreements with a number of entities including FIL Limited to provide investment advice with respect to all or a portion of the investments of the Fund. The sub-advisors arrange for acquisition and disposition of portfolio investments, including all necessary brokerage arrangements. The Fund pays an annual rate, which is calculated on a tiered basis, based on the net asset value of each Series, calculated daily and payable monthly. Independent Review Committee, Cross-Trading and In specie Transactions

Independent Review Committee

The IRC prepares, at least annually, a report of its activities for securityholders of the Fund. The report is available at www.fidelity.ca or at the securityholder's request at no cost by contacting Fidelity, using the contact information available on the final page of this document.

Cross-Trading and In specie Transactions

The Fund received the approval and standing instructions from the IRC in order to:

- (i) engage in cross-trading, which is a form of interfund trading. A cross-trade occurs when the Fund purchases or sells portfolio securities from or to another Fund, a U.S. fund or a separately managed account, through a broker;
- (ii) permit the Fund, in certain circumstances, to purchase and redeem Fund securities in consideration for securities rather than cash of another investment fund not governed by NI 81-102, or a separately managed account, managed by Fidelity.

For each of the transactions in (i) and (ii) above, the IRC's standing instructions require Fidelity to act in accordance with its associated policies and procedures and applicable law, and comply with the conditions in each of the exemptive relief orders received, which, in the case of cross-trading, requires additional periodic reporting to the Ontario Securities Commission. The standing instructions also require that investment decisions in respect of these transactions (a) are free from any influence by an entity related to Fidelity and without taking into account any consideration relevant to an entity related to Fidelity; (b) represent the business judgment of Fidelity uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; (c) comply with the applicable policies and procedures of Fidelity; and (d) achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

Financial Highlights Footnotes

- ^A This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual and/or unaudited interim financial statements. The net assets attributable to securityholders per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to financial statements.
- ^B Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per security.
- ^C Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both, and excludes any applicable distributions of management fee reduction to securityholders.
- ^D This information is provided as at period end of the year shown.
- ^E Prior period amounts may have been adjusted.
- ^F Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset values during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated expenses incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.
- ^G Effective November 1, 2014, the manager of the Fund has waived a portion of its administration fee and as of the date of the MRFP has continued to provide the Fund with such waivers. The manager may terminate the waiver at any time, at its sole discretion. It is not known when such waivers will be terminated.
- ^H The trading expense ratio represents total commissions, other portfolio transaction costs and dividends and interest expense on securities sold short expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated trading costs incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.
- ^I The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high portfolio turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities owned by the Fund, excluding short-term securities. The portfolio turnover rate includes any proceeds from a short sale in the value of sales of securities and the cost of covering a short sale in the value of purchases of securities. For periods greater than six months, but less than a full fiscal year, the portfolio turnover rate is annualized. The portfolio turnover rate excludes any adjustment for in-kind transactions.
- ^J For the period September 28, 2021 (commencement of sale of securities) to November 30, 2021.
- ^K Effective September 28, 2021, the manager of the Fund has waived a portion of its administration fee and as of the date of the MRFP has continued to provide the Fund with such waivers. The manager may terminate the waiver at any time, at its sole discretion. It is not known when such waivers will be terminated.
- ^L For the period June 6, 2024 (commencement of sale of securities) to November 30, 2024.
- ^M Effective June 6, 2024, the manager of the Fund has waived a portion of its administration fee and as of the date of the MRFP has continued to provide the Fund with such waivers. The manager may terminate the waiver at any time, at its sole discretion. It is not known when such waivers will be terminated.

Management and Advisory Fees

Fidelity serves as manager and investment advisor of the Fund. The Fund pays Fidelity a monthly management and advisory fee for its services, based on the net asset value of each Series, calculated daily and payable monthly. Fidelity uses these management fees to pay for sales and trailing commissions to registered dealers on the distribution of the Fund securities, as well as for the general investment management expenses. Dealer compensation represents cash commissions paid by Fidelity to registered dealers during the period and includes upfront deferred sales charge and trailing commissions. This amount may, in certain circumstances, exceed 100% of the fees earned by Fidelity during the period. For new Funds or Series the amounts presented may not be indicative of longer term operating periods.
