Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

Fidelity Canadian Low Volatility ETF returned 10.5%, after fees and expenses, for the six-month period ended September 30, 2024. During the review period, Canadian equities, as represented by the S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index, returned 10.0% (in Canadian dollar terms).

Market overview:

Canadian equities, as measured by the S&P/TSX Composite Index, returned 10.0%, for the six-month period ended September 30, 2024.

Canadian equities rose over the period under review. A favourable global economic backdrop, a steady decline in Canadian and global inflation, and a reduction in the Bank of Canada's (BoC) benchmark interest rate encouraged investors. Strong corporate earnings growth further bolstered investor sentiment, supporting overall market gains. Against this backdrop, materials were the best performing sector, in part due to rising gold prices, as investors sought safe-haven assets amid global uncertainties. Interest rate sensitive sectors, such as financials and real estate rose, reflecting optimism around improved earnings potential due to lower borrowing costs for consumers and businesses. Defensive sectors such as consumer staples and utilities also rose, as investors sought stability in the face of ongoing market volatility. Industrials faced headwinds as supply chain disruptions and slowing global demand weighed on the sector's outlook. Inflation (as measured by the consumer price index) eased to 2.0% in August 2024, down from 2.7% in April 2024. The fall in inflation supported the Bank of Canada's decision to reduce its key interest rate to 4.25%. Additionally, higher government spending and a rebound in business investment contributed to a 2.1% expansion in Canada's economy over the second quarter.

Factors affecting performance:

The Fund's benchmark, the Fidelity Canada Canadian Low Volatility Index, returned 10.8% for the review period. The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the period under review. The primary reason for the difference in returns between the Fund and the Index was that the total return of the Fund was reduced by the management fee paid or payable by the Fund, as well as brokerage and commission costs incurred in acquiring and rebalancing the portfolio of securities held by the Fund, and taxes (including withholding taxes, where applicable) and other expenses paid or payable by the Fund. These fees and expenses are not included in the calculation of the performance of the Index.

The Fund's exposure to Canada-based financial services company Royal Bank of Canada, Canada-based consumer staples distribution and retail company Loblaw Companies and Canada-based consumer staples distribution and retail company Metro Inc. contributed to total returns, while exposure to Canada-based transportation company Canadian National Railway, Canada-based energy company Canadian Natural Resources and Canada-based financial services company Bank of Montreal detracted from total returns.

Portfolio changes:

At the sector level, relative to the S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index, the Fund had its highest relative weightings in the industrials, consumer staples and utilities sectors, and its lowest relative weightings in the information technology, materials and financials sectors.

The Index is rebalanced on a semi-annual basis on the third Friday of February and August using data as at the close of business on the day that is ten business days prior to the scheduled rebalancing. Accordingly, the composition of the Fund may change, resulting in different sector and security weightings.

Derivatives disclosure:

During the period, the Fund engaged in futures contracts, in a manner consistent with its investment objective and strategies, to manage the Fund's cash balance while the portfolio management team sought out other investment opportunities.

Recent Developments

Since the investment objective of the Fund is to seek to replicate, to the extent possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the Index, the Fund is not actively managed by traditional methods. Accordingly, the Fund will continue to be invested in securities as described in its investment objective and strategies and will generally not be affected by market developments unless the constituent securities included in the Index change in response to those developments.

Cross-Trading and In specie Transactions

The Fund received the approval and standing instructions from the IRC in order to:

- (ii) permit the Fund, in certain circumstances, to purchase and redeem Fund securities in consideration for securities rather than cash of another investment fund not governed by NI 81-102, or a separately managed account, managed by Fidelity.

For each of the transactions in (i) and (ii) above, the IRC's standing instructions require Fidelity to act in accordance with its associated policies and procedures and applicable law, and comply with the conditions in each of the exemptive relief orders received, which, in the case of cross-trading, requires additional periodic reporting to the Ontario Securities Commission. The standing instructions also require that investment decisions in respect of these transactions (a) are free from any influence by an entity related to Fidelity and without taking into account any consideration relevant to an entity related to Fidelity; (b) represent the business judgment of Fidelity uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; (c) comply with the applicable policies and procedures of Fidelity; and (d) achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

^A This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual and/or unaudited interim financial statements. The net assets attributable to securityholders per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to financial statements.

^B Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per security.

^C Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both, and excludes any applicable distributions of management fee reduction to securityholders. Distributions are presented based on management's best estimate of the tax character.

^D This information is provided as at period end of the year shown.

^E Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset values during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated expenses incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.

^F The trading expense ratio represents total commissions, other portfolio transaction costs and dividends and interest expense on securities sold short expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated trading costs incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.

^G The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high portfolio turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities owned by the Fund, excluding short-term securities. The portfolio turnover rate includes any proceeds from a short sale in the value of sales of securities and the cost of covering a short sale in the value of purchases of securities. For periods greater than six months, but less than a full fiscal year, the portfolio turnover rate is annualized. The portfolio turnover rate excludes any adjustment for in-kind transactions.

Management and Advisory Fees

Fidelity serves as manager and investment advisor of the Fund. The Fund pays Fidelity a monthly management and advisory fee for its services, based on the net asset value of each Series, calculated daily and payable monthly. Fidelity uses these management fees to pay for sales and trailing commissions to registered dealers on the distribution of the Fund securities, as well as for the general investment management expenses. Dealer compensation represents cash commissions paid by Fidelity to registered dealers during the period and includes upfront deferred sales charge and trailing commissions. This amount may, in certain circumstances, exceed 100% of the fees earned by Fidelity during the period. For new Funds or Series the amounts presented may not be indicative of longer term operating periods.
