Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

Securities of this Fund are only available for purchase by other funds and accounts managed or advised by Fidelity, and are not available for public purchase.

Fidelity Global Equity Investment Trust (Fund), Series O, returned 6.1%, for the six-month period ended December 31, 2024. During the review period, global equities, as represented by the MSCI All Country World Index, returned 10.9% (in Canadian dollar terms).

Market overview:

Global equities, as broadly measured by the MSCI All Country World Index, returned 10.9% in Canadian dollar terms and 5.6% in U.S. dollar terms, for the six-month period ended December 31, 2024.

Global equities advanced for the period under review. Falling interest rates in major developed markets, decreasing inflation, and positive U.S. economic data helped support investor confidence. Interest rate sensitive sectors, including real estate and financials rose, signalling optimism about potential earnings growth driven by reduced borrowing costs. Investor optimism in the digital innovation and artificial intelligence space helped fuel growth in the information technology and communication services sectors but faced volatility in the latter part of the review period due to concerns about stretched valuations. Other cyclical sectors, such as consumer discretionary and industrials also delivered positive returns. In Europe, equities faced pressure due to the potential impact of U.S. trade tariffs on the eurozone's growth and intensifying geopolitical uncertainties. Japanese equities experienced volatility, amid shifting monetary policy expectations and strengthening of the yen against the U.S. dollar. The interest rate increase by the Bank of Japan led to a rapid unwinding of leveraged global trades, which created market volatility. Emerging markets rose but lagged developed markets. Sentiment towards emerging market equities improved towards the end of the periods, after the U.S. Federal Reserve's announcement of a rate cut and China's stimulus measures supported a more optimistic growth outlook for the region. China's central bank embarked on its most significant stimulus since the pandemic, in effort to ease the deflationary cycle.

Factors affecting performance:

The Fund underperformed its benchmark, MSCI All Country World Index, primarily due to investments in certain stocks in the information technology sector. In the sector, an investment in South Korea-based technology hardware and equipment firm Samsung Electronics and a lack of exposure to a U.S.-based technology hardware and equipment firm detracted from relative returns. In addition, investments in certain stocks in the consumer staples sector, and overweight exposure to the sector detracted from relative returns. In the sector, an investment in U.S.-based discount store company Dollar Tree, and an investment in Switzerland-based food company Nestle detracted from relative returns. In other sectors, a lack of exposure to a U.S.-based automobiles and components firm, investments in U.S.-based analytics firm Clarivate and in Canada-based capital goods firm Finning International detracted from relative returns.

In contrast, a lack of exposure to the energy sector contributed to relative returns. In the sector, a lack of exposure to a U.S.-based integrated oil and gas firm and a lack of exposure to an India-based oil and gas refining and marketing firm contributed to relative returns. In other sectors, investments in Germany-based capital goods firm Siemens Energy and in U.K.-based bank Barclays contributed to relative returns.

Portfolio changes:

During the review period, the Fund's exposure to the consumer staples and consumer discretionary sectors increased. In the consumer staples sector, the portfolio manager initiated a position in Nestle. In the consumer discretionary sector, exposure was increased to China-based distribution & retail firm Alibaba Group. The portfolio manager believes these companies are high-quality businesses with good investment potential.

In contrast, exposure to the financials and health care sectors decreased, as the manager sought opportunities with what he believed to be more potential elsewhere. In the financials sector, the portfolio manager exited a position in U.S.-based financial services firm Fiserv. In the health care sector, exposure was reduced to U.S.-based health care equipment and services firm Boston Scientific.

At the end of the review period, the Fund had its largest absolute exposure to the industrials sector, followed by the consumer discretionary sector. The Fund diverged most from its benchmark's sector weightings by having more exposure to the industrials sector and less exposure to the information technology sector.

Recent Developments

Portfolio manager Patrice Quirion continues to take a long-term approach to investing and focuses on companies he believes have sustainable quality. The portfolio manager favours companies that, in the managers' opinion, are demonstrating steady and predictable growth. The portfolio manager seeks global leaders, multinationals, and high-quality companies that are likely to exhibit attractive risk/return characteristics over the long term. The portfolio manager is also looking for companies believed to have characteristics similar to those of leading multinationals, which may be global leaders in niche areas in the manager's view.

The report is available at www.fidelity.ca or at the securityholder's request at no cost by contacting Fidelity, using the contact information available on the final page of this document.

The Fund received the approval and standing instructions from the IRC in order to:

- (i) engage in cross-trading, which is a form of interfund trading. A cross-trade occurs when the Fund purchases or sells portfolio securities from or to another Fund, a U.S. fund or a separately managed account, through a broker;
- (ii) permit the Fund, in certain circumstances, to purchase and redeem Fund securities in consideration for securities rather than cash of another investment fund not governed by NI 81-102, or a separately managed account, managed by Fidelity.

For each of the transactions in (i) and (ii) above, the IRC's standing instructions require Fidelity to act in accordance with its associated policies and procedures and applicable law, and comply with the conditions in each of the exemptive relief orders received, which, in the case of cross-trading, requires additional periodic reporting to the Ontario Securities Commission. The standing instructions also require that investment decisions in respect of these transactions (a) are free from any influence by an entity related to Fidelity and without taking into account any consideration relevant to an entity related to Fidelity; (b) represent the business judgment of Fidelity uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; (c) comply with the applicable policies and procedures of Fidelity; and (d) achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

^A This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual and/or unaudited interim financial statements. The net assets attributable to securityholders per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to financial statements.

^B Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per security.

^C Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both, and excludes any applicable distributions of management fee reduction to securityholders. Distributions are presented based on management's best estimate of the tax character.

^D This information is provided as at period end of the year shown.

^E Prior period amounts may have been adjusted.

^F The trading expense ratio represents total commissions, other portfolio transaction costs and dividends and interest expense on securities sold short expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated trading costs incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.

^G The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high portfolio turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities owned by the Fund, excluding short-term securities. The portfolio turnover rate includes any proceeds from a short sale in the value of sales of securities and the cost of covering a short sale in the value of purchases of securities. For periods greater than six months, but less than a full fiscal year, the portfolio turnover rate is annualized. The portfolio turnover rate excludes any adjustment for in-kind transactions.
