Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

Securities of this Fund are only available for purchase by other funds and accounts managed or advised by Fidelity, and are not available for public purchase. Fidelity High Income Commercial Real Estate Currency Neutral Multi-Asset Base Fund seeks a return similar to that of Fidelity High Income Commercial Real Estate Multi-Asset Base Fund (Underlying Fund) by investing substantially all of its assets in securities of the Underlying Fund.

Fidelity High Income Commercial Real Estate Currency Neutral Multi-Asset Base Fund (Fund), Series O, returned 4.4%, for the six-month period ended December 31, 2024. During the review period, U.S. fixed income, as represented by the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index - Hedged CAD, returned 1.3% (in Canadian dollar terms).

Market overview:

U.S. investment-grade bonds, as broadly represented by the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, returned 7.2% in Canadian dollar terms and 2.0% in U.S. dollar terms, for the six-month period ended December 31, 2024.

U.S. investment-grade bonds advanced in Canadian and U.S. dollar terms during the period under review. High yield bonds continued to outperform their investment-grade peers, benefiting from higher yields and tighter credit spreads. Any decreases to headline inflation at the outset of the period were reversed in the later months of the year, with headline inflation increasing to 2.9% in December 2024. The U.S. Federal Reserve (the Fed) commenced their easing cycle with a 50-basis point cut in September followed by a 25-basis point cut in November and December. The U.S. 10-year Treasury yield remained volatile and rose towards the end of the review period. This was driven by strong economic data and the concern that, regardless of the election results, the new administration would increase U.S. Treasury issuance to fund a growing budget deficit. The unemployment rate remained at 4.1% in December 2024, unchanged since June 2024, while a separate report showed a sharp increase in the number of job openings and higher employment growth at the end of the review period, reinforcing the view that the labour market remains largely strong.

Factors affecting performance:

The Fund's benchmark, the Bloomberg U.S. CMBS ex-AAA ex-Agency Guaranteed Currency Neutral Index, returned 9.6% for the review period. The benchmark only holds investment-grade commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS), while the Underlying Fund invests in both investment-grade and non-investment-grade real estate debt securities.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark over the review period, as certain positions in the Underlying Fund, that were backed by conventional office properties detracted from performance due to continued uncertainty over the long-term fundamentals weighed on performance selectively. In contrast, the Underlying Fund's focus on high-yielding, credit sensitive CMBS contributed to relative returns in an environment where spreads were compressing. Multi-borrower (conduit) CMBS, in particular bonds that were issued in 2014 or earlier, were a strong relative contributor as performance was aided by loan resolutions and increased visibility around timing of repayment. Single-Asset/Single-Borrower (SASB) CMBS was also a relative contributor as returns benefited from property type selection and high coupons on the Underlying Fund's floating-rate securities.

Portfolio changes:

During the review period, the portfolio managers of the Underlying Fund focused primarily on CMBS issues. Investment selections were primarily focused on SASB CMBS with an emphasis on the digital infrastructure sector as risk-adjusted returns remain attractive according to the portfolio managers. SASB CMBS is an area which the portfolio managers believe possesses strong credits because they are less leveraged, owned mainly by institutional sponsors, and backed by higher-quality properties located in better markets. Sales during the period were concentrated in recent vintage conduit CMBS as well as non-investment grade real estate company bonds.

Derivatives disclosure:

During the period, the Fund engaged in forward foreign currency contracts, in a manner consistent with its investment objectives and strategies, to hedge against the effect of currency fluctuations on the investment returns of the Fund. The use of forward contracts in this manner does not completely eliminate the impact of currency fluctuations on returns and the Fund's returns will differ from the local currency returns of the Underlying Fund's investments.

Recent Developments

The portfolio managers of the Fund, Bill MacLay and Matthew Torchia, continue to focus on bottom-up fundamental research. They believe that fundamental characteristics will be the primary performance drivers for high-income real estate securities over the long term, while the influence of secular shifts and macroeconomic factors will be secondary. The managers believe that commercial property prices and overall transaction volumes have shown signs of bottoming. According to them, outside of the office sector, the fundamental picture remains stable; however, the pace of rental rate increases has slowed or normalized, and in some areas, rental rates and occupancy have declined modestly as new supply is absorbed, in the managers' view. The managers believe that increasing investor comfort as the commercial real estate cycle develops has been a catalyst for renewed investor interest in what they believe to be higher-yielding segments of the CMBS market.

For each of the transactions in (i) and (ii) above, the IRC's standing instructions require Fidelity to act in accordance with its associated policies and procedures and applicable law, and comply with the conditions in each of the exemptive relief orders received, which, in the case of cross-trading, requires additional periodic reporting to the Ontario Securities Commission. The standing instructions also require that investment decisions in respect of these transactions (a) are free from any influence by an entity related to Fidelity and without taking into account any consideration relevant to an entity related to Fidelity; (b) represent the business judgment of Fidelity uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; (c) comply with the applicable policies and procedures of Fidelity; and (d) achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

<sup>B</sup> This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual and/or unaudited interim financial statements. The net assets attributable to securityholders per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to financial statements.

<sup>C</sup> Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per security.

<sup>D</sup> Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both, and excludes any applicable distributions of management fee reduction to securityholders. Distributions are presented based on management's best estimate of the tax character.

<sup>F</sup> The trading expense ratio represents total commissions, other portfolio transaction costs and dividends and interest expense on securities sold short expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated trading costs incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.

<sup>G</sup> The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high portfolio turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities owned by the Fund, excluding short-term securities. The portfolio turnover rate includes any proceeds from a short sale in the value of sales of securities and the cost of covering a short sale in the value of purchases of securities. For periods greater than six months, but less than a full fiscal year, the portfolio turnover rate is annualized. The portfolio turnover rate excludes any adjustment for in-kind transactions.
